BUSINESS AND PROPERTIES

3. With respect to the business of the Company and its properties:
 - (a) Describe in detail what business the Company does and proposes to do, including what products or goods are or will be produced or services that will be rendered.

TheAmericanWest.com Company began operations in the Spring of 1999. The company is an Internet based company whose primary business is to facilitate business-to-business sales, business-to-consumer sales and person-to-person (auction) trading of clothing, furnishings, accessories, art, memorabilia, travel/entertainment packages, and all other goods and services with an American Old West theme. TheAmericanWest.com web site is a virtual Old West town with merchant sites, an auction site, and community centers that provide information on “everything Western” and allow visitors to interact with the company and with each other.

Direct Consumer Sales

TheAmericanWest.com intends to overcome the inefficiencies of the traditional “brick and mortar” trading platform by exploiting the unique characteristics of the Internet. TheAmericanWest.com is intended to serve a large, targeted niche market and therefore does not directly compete with other online retailers. TheAmericanWest.com currently offers a wide variety of western themed products that can be purchased through the website.

Once a significant volume of sales is realized, sales data can be analyzed to determine potentially profitable products. TheAmericanWest.com intends to use its sales data and merchant resources to develop its own branded line of clothing, furnishings, and accessories.

The company intends to develop and offer to business-to-business and business-to-consumer clients a wide range of western goods and services, including many products which have been unavailable to Western merchants and related businesses in the Western industry. The development of these potential goods or services will likely not occur until significant sales of existing products are achieved. These potential products would likely be produced by 3rd party manufacturers to our specifications.

TheAmericanWest.com has an advisory board, currently consisting of members of the current board of directors. It is intended a group Western enthusiasts of diverse backgrounds that can provide advice to management in the development of goods, services and the business in general. No formal structure for the advisory board currently exists and they are primarily a resource for management. If TheAmericanWest.com is able to grow the hope would be to attract notable individuals from the Western themed industries to this advisory board.

Business to Business

United States Census Bureau data show that business-to-business (B-to-B) e-commerce dominated 1999 e-commerce activity. Merchant wholesale e-commerce sales were 5.3 percent ($134 billion) of total sales ($2,541 billion) for 1999. This is a significant and revolutionary way businesses are and will increasingly do their purchasing in the new century.

TheAmericanWest.com management believes no company has established a position of leadership or market dominance within the western lifestyle category. TheAmericanWest.com intends to take the lead in establishing a cooperative business-to-business Western goods and services site that will benefit all those who seek to do business in the Western category.

TheAmericanWest.com co-operative business-to-business site will serve independent Western stores located throughout North America and abroad. By combining the purchasing power of many small retailers into a cooperative purchasing program, retailers will be made more competitive with the large chains, and with other marketers who use the Internet for business-to-consumer business. Small independent western store owners can aggregate their purchasing power through the American West.com. products are purchased at bulk rates from the manufacturer with revenue to the American West.com taken from part of the cost savings that would be unavailable to the independent merchant.

The cooperative web site can also be the vehicle through which new and unique wholesale products and/or private label or branded merchandise can be offered to members of the cooperative on a semi-exclusive basis. TheAmericanWest.com intends seek products which can be wholesaled to our members via the Internet, in the growing business-to-business sector.

The cooperative structure will give the independent retailers and wholesalers alike a vested interest in helping TheAmericanWest.com succeed because they and their customers will be benefiting from volume purchasing. If TheAmericanWest.com is able to implement this type of plan on a large scale, even a small percentage of the volume purchasing savings of these sales could generate a substantial revenue stream for the company. This potential revenue assumes savings otherwise unavailable to the retailers individually; there can be no assurance The American West.com will realize the volume of business that would be necessary to result in a substantial revenue stream.

- (b) Describe how these products or services are to be produced or rendered and how and when the Company intends to carry out its activities. If the Company plans to offer a new product, state the present stage of development, including whether or not a working prototype is in existence. Indicate if completion of development of the product would require a material amount of the resources of the Company, and the estimated amount. If the Company is or is expected to be dependent on one or a limited number of suppliers for essential raw materials, energy or other items, describe. Describe any major existing supply contracts.

The Company is an Internet based company with several western themed domain names at its disposal, including TheAmericanWest.com. Currently, the TheAmericanWest.com web site is installed with approximately 100 merchants offering more than a thousand individual items.

The American West.com's Old West Town themed website overcomes the inefficiencies of the traditional high cost, low volume, and fragmented industry by exploiting the unique characteristics of the Internet platform.

Provide a Compelling Trading Platform that Attracts Both Buyers and Sellers.

The virtual Old West Town is a web-based community that is interactive and entertaining. The company intends to implement a live auction site, and opportunities for Western Enthusiasts to socialize, educate and interact through posting boards, e-mail, etc.

Expand and Enhance Features and Functionality.

The American West will maintain a focus on expanding and enhancing its service offering to continually improve the purchasing and trading experience. Improvements will include pre-trading features such as simplified site and product update tools for merchants, post-trading features such as self-service shipment tracking and account histories for buyers, and processing of buyer profiles to allow one-to-one marketing events and other customized marketing activities.

Grow TheAmericanWest.com Community Base.

The Company will focus on two key areas to achieve growth:

Attain a substantial number of merchants, expand product categories and product offerings through a phone campaign, dramatic and trade industry event presence and sponsorship, and trade publication advertisement, and by building merchant relationships. The web site's community and information centers will be developed to attract and retain customer interest through the process of achieving a large number of merchants.

Capture intensive demand by identified buyers: the known U.S. market for Western related goods and services will be targeted for increased brand awareness through attendance and sponsorship of high visibility industry events supported by national advertisements in targeted publications, banners and other placements on high-traffic web-sites and links to other existing Western related sites.

The American West.com expects repeat visits to the website will be generated by;

- 1) providing a broad range of product and service offerings;
- 2) facilitating a convenient and trouble free buying experience;
- 3) providing a virtual "Old West" experience; and,
- 4) fostering TheAmericanWest.com community affinity and loyalty through interaction with other users who share the Old West interests and values

Maintain the Highest Level of Customer Service.

TheAmericanWest.com believes that its ability to establish and maintain long-term relationships with its customers and encourage repeat visits and purchases depends, in part, on the strength of its customer support and service operations and staff. Furthermore, the Company values frequent communication with and feedback from its customers in order to continually improve the store and its services.

The American West offers customer support during normal business hours by telephone and 24 hour a day, seven day a week support my e-mail. Most customer support inquiries will be handled via e-mail, with customer e-mail inquiries typically answered within 24 hours after submission.

TheAmericanWest.com also offers customers the following customer services:

Free e-mail addresses are currently available to enable customers to request information and to encourage feedback and suggestions.

TECHNOLOGY

TheAmericanWest.com currently has out-sourced its hosting functions to Interland in Atlanta, Georgia under its True Advanced plan at a rate of $49.95 renewed quarterly. The American west.com does not own any of the server equipment or lease any line connections. The American West.com can cancel or move these services at any time without penalty.

TheAmericanWest.com has its web development in house and has implemented a broad array of site management, search, customer interaction, transaction-processing and fulfillment services and systems using a combination of its own custom software code and commercially available licensed software applications. The company's current strategy is to license commercially available technology whenever possible rather than seek internally developed solutions.

TheAmericanWest.com currently has an auction site completed and did operate it for a period of time. Currently, the auction functions are forwarded to eBay. Auction requests are being forwarded until sufficient site traffic exists to support the labor expense of maintaining the auction internally. The American West.com does not have any agreements with eBay. eBay could make their auction content unavailable at any time without notice.

In addition to these features, TheAmericanWest.com has planned as part of their western themed community, bulletin board areas where users can interact with each other and The American West.com staff and support personnel.

Radio features are currently being provided by a link to Live365.com. Movies features are currently being provided by a link to yahoo.com. Weather information is currently being provided by a link to weather.com. The American West.com does not have any exclusive agreements with these providers. These content providers could make the content unavailable at any time without notice or charge fees for use that would significantly impact The American West.com's ability to provide these features.

- (c) Describe the industry in which the Company is selling or expects to sell its products or services And, where applicable, any recognized trends within that industry. Describe that part of the industry and the geographic area in which the business competes or will compete.

Indicate whether price is expected to be by price, service, or other basis. Indicate the current or anticipated prices or price ranges for the Company's products or services, or the formula for determining prices, and how these prices compare with those of competitor's products or services, including a description of any variation in product or service features. Name the principal competitors that the Company has or expects to have in its area of competition. Indicate the relative size and financial and market strengths of the Company's competitors in the area of competition in which the Company will be operating. State why the Company believes it can effectively compete with these and other companies in its area of competition.

Growth of Online Commerce

The Internet continues to grow rapidly as a medium for global commerce. In a June, 1999 report on the growth and importance of electronic commerce in the U.S. economy, Secretary of Commerce, William M. Daley, writes, "The Internet is changing the way businesses do business, from the acquisition and servicing of customers, to the management of their relations with suppliers. It is revolutionizing our access to information and the way we communicate, shop, and entertain ourselves. While the numbers are still small, when compared to our overall economy, they are growing more rapidly and provide more evidence that electronic commerce will be the engine for economic growth in the next century."¹

The United States Department of Commerce announced second quarter 2001 retail e-commerce sales were $7.458 billion, an increase of 24.7 percent from second quarter 2000²

The American West.com believes the widening acceptance of e-commerce presents enormous opportunity for businesses but warns that there can be no assurance our business will experience the same growth or otherwise benefit from growth in e-commerce as a whole.

The Western Goods Industry

The Western goods industry is characterized by a large number of small, narrowly specialized and sometimes isolated manufacturers and craftsmen, privately owned retailers serving limited geographic markets and a few national catalogue distributors.

Management believes demand for clothing, accessories, furniture, travel and entertainment, etc., with a nostalgic American West theme is strong in the United States. Buyers who are looking for a way to embrace America's Old West values and spirit comprise a solid market that is poorly served by the current industrial supply structure.

Potential Western enthusiasts include:

People working at making a living with some endeavor related to our Western American Heritage such as working Cowboys, museum directors, dude ranch owners, Western and country entertainers, horse trainers, etc.

Events and associations of specialty groups such as rodeo and cattlemen's associations and horse breeders, Cowboy Action Shooting groups, team roping associations, Western movie fan clubs, collector's groups, film festivals, Cowboy poetry gatherings, Mountain Man Rendezvous, Native American events, Civil War and Indian War Re-enactors, etc.

Individuals identified as Western Enthusiasts who enjoy the Western lifestyle, its clothing and jewelry, its furniture and décor, its dancing, its history, its art, its collectibles.

¹ "The Emerging Digital Economy II," U.S. Department of Commerce, June 1999

² United States Department of Commerce, August 30, 2001 retail e-commerce second quarter 2001 announcement

A 1992 study indicates that approximately 31% of the U.S. population qualifies as Western Enthusiasts. “Enthusiasts” expressed interest in at least three of the following:

- Buying or wearing Western-style jewelry or accessories
- Western arts or crafts such as pottery, hand-woven rugs or blankets
- Vacation packages or travel destinations in the West
- Western-style architecture, decorating, design
- Entertainment and leisure activities such as Western-style dancing or Western music
- Western horse-related activities such as rodeos or trail riding
- Reading about the west
- Reenacting and Mountain Man Rendezvous

The study group identified this interest in the Western icon as a strong trend with “real staying power.”³

The Service Model/Price Schedule

Merchant Product Information

TheAmericanWest.com works with merchants to prepare the presentation of each merchant’s products, complete with photos and prices. This presentation is integrated into TheAmericanWest.com’s internet storefront. Manufacturers desiring a more elaborate presentation of their products may be charged a fee to cover the graphic design and programming costs.

Buyers can order items through the automated shopping cart integrated into The American West.com internet storefront. Because of the low marginal cost of distribution, TheAmericanWest.com is able to offer most items below normal retail prices. Orders are forwarded to merchants, who ship directly to buyers. Payment is made to TheAmericanWest.com, who forwards payment, less a minimum of 20% sales commission to merchants once buyers receive the merchandise. TheAmericanWest.com sets up basic presentation of the merchants products free of charge. Major revisions or custom presentations are prepared on an hourly fee basis, currently $35 per hour.

Auction site

Sellers pay a small fee to list items for sale and a percentage of the selling price when a transaction is concluded. Buyers pay nothing to browse the site or purchase items, but must register to complete any transactions. The actual transaction, including payment and shipment is conducted directly between buyer and seller without involving TheAmericanWest.com. Future customer service enhancements may include shipping assistance and finance mechanisms.

The auction fee structure is:

Item Price	Listing Fee (based on initial asking price of item)	Transaction Fee (based on final selling price)
Under $10	$0	10%
$10 - $100	$1	5% (added to amount over $10)
$100 - $500	$5	2.5% (added to amount over $100)
Over $500	$10	1.25% (added to amount over $500)

³ 1992 study by Yankelovich Partners

Sellers may also pay extra for special font size or bolding, featured auction item advertisements, etc. The description and costs for these items have not yet been established.

The auction is currently out-sourced with revenue going to that provider. Once sufficient site traffic interested in the auction of western theme products develops the auction will revert to The American West and revenue therefrom retained as indicated above.

COMPETITION: Any channels through which sellers move Western related goods and services potentially competes with that provided by TheAmericanWest.com. Business-to-consumer channels include traditional retail outlets, catalogue sales, and Western related web sites. Person-to-person channels include classified ads, garage sales, and flea markets.

The Internet venue is far superior to all physical site outlets for the sale of services and any goods that do not require presale “touch” or “taste” testing. Traditional outlets tend to be fixed-capital intensive, requiring pre-investment in real estate and inventories. They are thus more expensive and more rigid, i.e., less able to respond quickly to changes in demand. Unlike Internet based businesses which are characterized by very small marginal costs, they are less able to make small incremental increases in capacity, and less able to realize on-going economies of scale. Geographic market boundaries and high costs of disseminating information regarding their product offering to a prospective client base also limit them.

There is some Western goods presence already on the Internet as barriers to entry are very low. However, most are either individual merchant sites or “posting” boards which charge merchants to advertise or install links to their own sites. We found no auction sites devoted exclusively to the Western goods niche. We have located a few potential sites as competition, Cowboy.com, and Readthewest.com which are primarily search engines, Western2.com, TheWest.com and Westlife.com that claim to be the central clearinghouse for “all things Western”. They provide no sense of community, stale inventories with a diluted Western format. Most tend to have the feel of static order forms. Many of them are difficult to find, having non-descriptive addresses. It is our opinion that they are poorly organized. Some of these sites may have the potential to grow into more viable commercial forums and compete for sales with The American West.com.

TheAmericanWest.com currently is streaming full length Western movies through Yahoo.com, has its an internet based radio station provided by Live365.com, unique electronic post cards available through The American West.com, on-line auction provided through ebay.com, free e-mail available through The American West.com, and web design services for custom product presentations on The American West.com . The American West.com does not have any exclusive agreements with these providers. These content providers could make the content unavailable at any time without notice or charge fees for use that would significantly impact The American West.com’s ability to provide these features.

- (d) Describe specifically the marketing strategies the Company is employing or will employ in penetrating its market or developing a new market. Set forth in response to Question 4 below the timing and size of the results of this effort which will be necessary in order for the Company to be profitable. Indicate how and by whom its products or services are or will be marketed (such as advertising, personal contacts by sales representatives, etc.), how its marketing structure operates or will operate and the basis for its marketing approach, including any market studies. Name any customers that account for, or based upon existing orders will account for a major portion (20% or more) of the Company's sales. Describe any major existing sales contracts.

1. CUSTOMER INCENTIVES

This includes free merchant set up services (standard presentation), free e—mail.

2. MEDIA ADVERTISING

Targeted radio spots, coordinated with significant industry events such as major stock shows, Cowboy Action Shooting competitions, re-enactments, rendezvous, gatherings, auctions and rodeos are also in the planning stages.

3. EVENTS

A major thrust of the Company's marketing effort includes visible participation in events attended by large numbers of merchants and Western enthusiasts. These include: stock shows, historical reenactments, rodeos, county fairs, trade shows, etc. The Company intends to sponsor some of the more significant events such as the Western Design Conference, Golden Boot Awards, and annual historical events presented by the National Parks Associations. In the ramp up stages, the Company's booths at selected events will feature on-line demos and training with incentives for "signing on" to the web community.

4. INTERNET ADVERTISING

TheAmericanWest.com will be promoted through strategic advertising and sponsorship placements on high-traffic web sites and linking to other related sites such as those promoting significant industry events. An outside agency specializing in Internet marketing may be used to execute the Company's "on-line" marketing activities, which are designed to drive Internet "browsers" to the site by, e.g., adding TheAmericanWest.com listing to all major search engines such as Lycos, Infoseek, and Alta Vista, as well as ensuring presence on other relevant sites and directories throughout the Internet.

5. ON-SITE MARKETING PROGRAMS

The Company will engage in a number of promotional activities within its web site including featured, specially priced items, awards of promotional items with minimal purchases or auction placements.

- 4 (a). Event or Milestone	Manner of Occurrence/ Method of Achievement	# of Months after filing when should be accomplished
Infrastructure setup	Management to finalize plans and initiate recruiting of marketing and web site programming personnel. Advertisement/solicitation for positions completed.	3
Staffing	Marketing and web site programming positions filled.	6
Merchant acquisition	Marketing to continue acquiring viable merchant candidates and maintaining/expanding active merchants using the facilities of TheAmericanWest.com web site. The capital required to complete this is estimated to be $30,000 over a 12 month period predominately as wages to marketing person.	9
Web Site enhancements	Web site programmers complete The Old West Community and Old West Town facilities on TheAmericanWest.com site; providing information and entertainment for purveyors and buyers of everything Old West. The capital required to complete this is estimated to be $15,000 over a 3 month period, predominately as wages to a programming person.	12
Auction site completion	Web site programmer completes revisions to the Auction Site component of TheAmericanWest.com site; facilitating person-to-person trading. The capital required to complete this is estimated to be $10,000 over a 12 month period, predominately as wages to marketing person.	14
"Blitz" advertisement	Marketing to complete multi-faceted marketing campaign; customer incentives, media advertising, event, Internet advertising, on-site programs, and personalized programs. The capital required to complete this is estimated to be $20,000 to $50,000 over a 12 month period, predominately as advertising and event participation.	16

Currently, The American West.com has no commitments from any sources to provide the capital needed to implement these milestones. The company continues to rely on loans from the President to continue operations. The timelines indicated above are merely estimates by management.

- 4 (b). State the probable consequences to the Company of delays in achieving each of the events or milestones within the above time schedule, and particularly the effect of any delays upon the Company's liquidity in view of the Company's then anticipated level of operating costs.

Infrastructure setup

The current Directors and Officers of TheAmericanWest.com must ensure development and staffing plans are complete and implementation begins. Although TheAmericanWest.com has conducted operations to a level sufficient to realize income, profitability will not be achieved until such time as current operations, as well as clients, are expanded in compliance with the business strategy. A delay in the completion of this event should not affect liquidity, yet may cause a corresponding delay in TheAmericanWest.com's ability to achieve anticipated and necessary levels of sales to achieve profitability.

Staffing

Marketing personnel and web site programmers are needed to accomplish TheAmericanWest.com's business plans. Neither the solicitation and retention of merchants, nor the attraction and sales to consumers, to the level necessary to achieve profitability, can be undertaken until staffing has been completed. A delay in the completion of staffing will not impact liquidity, yet will delay TheAmericanWest.com's ability to achieve desired levels of profitability.

Merchant acquisition

The identification, solicitation, and acquisition of merchandisers for TheAmericanWest.com web site is an ongoing event, which has been conducted and accomplished to date with reasonable success. Marketing must continue and expand this activity to ensure existing and planned facilities and services of TheAmericanWest.com are fully exploited. Liquidity, as well as profitability, of TheAmericanWest.com may be adversely impacted if delays are encountered in the conducting of this activity; in part, due to additional operating costs gained with the hiring of additional personnel.

Web Site enhancements

Enhancements to TheAmericanWest.com web site, Old West Community and Old West Town, will provide informational and entertainment facilities expected to increase consumer visitation to the site. A delay in completing this event will correspondingly delay the ability to increase profits, and may also impact TheAmericanWest.com's liquidity due to increased operating costs as related to the programming development project continuing beyond expected completion date.

Auction site completion

The Auction Site is one of three components of the Old West Town facility. Delaying completion of this event delays facilitating person-to-person trading at the TheAmericanWest.com web site; and, therefore, impact anticipated revenues expected. Liquidity will be impacted if the Auction Site development project extends past planned completion dates due to increased programming development costs.

"Blitz" advertisement

Marketing completion of the "Blitz" advertisement campaign is necessary to ensure merchants, businesses, and persons are aware and avail themselves of the facilities of TheAmericanWest.com. A delay in the completion of this advertising event impacts The AmericanWest.com's visibility, and therefore the capability to increase sales, increase revenues and profitability. Liquidity is impacted where marketing expenses continue significantly beyond scheduled completion of this event.

11. Indicate whether the Company is having or anticipates having within the next 12 months any cash flow or liquidity problems and whether or not it is in default or in breach of any note, loan, lease or other indebtedness or financing arrangement requiring the Company to make payments. Indicate if a significant amount of the Company's trade payables have not been paid within the stated trade term. State whether the Company is subject to any unsatisfied judgments, liens or settlement obligations and the amounts thereof. Indicate the Company's plans to resolve any such problems.

In the opinion of TheAmericanWest.com's management, neither cash flow nor liquidity problems are anticipated within the next 12 months at the current level of operations. The president of TheAmericanWest.com has provided and will continue to provide funding for operations. Neither the president nor any other officer of TheAmericanWest.com has entered into any formal agreement to provide funding or loans.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

March 30, 2001

Board of Directors
TheAmericanWest.com, Inc.
Las Vegas, NV

I have audited the Balance Sheets of TheAmericanWest.com, Inc. (the "Company"), as of December 31, 2000 and 1999, and the related Statements of Operations, Stockholders' Equity, and Cash Flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement presentation. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the balance sheets of TheAmericanWest.com, Inc. as of December 31, 2000 and 1999, and its related statements of operations, equity and cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 4 to the financial statements, the Company has had limited operations and have not commenced planned principal operations. This raises substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plan in regard to these matters are also described in Note 4. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Notes to Financial Statements

Note 1 – Summary of significant accounting policies

Organization

The Company was organized on March 30, 1999 (Date of Inception) under the laws of the State of Nevada. The Company is authorized to issue 25,000,000 shares of $0.001 par value common stock.

Through December 31, 1999, the Company had been in the development stage. Effective January 1, 2000, the Company commenced significant operations and was no longer considered to be in the development stage.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ significantly from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents

For the purpose of the statements of cash flows, all highly liquid investments with the maturity of three months or less are considered to be cash equivalents.

Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Minor additions and renewals are expensed in the year incurred. Major additions and renewals are capitalized and depreciated over their estimated useful lives. Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives as follows:

Office equipment	5 years

Revenue recognition

The Company recognizes revenue from product sales when the products are shipped and title passes to customers. Outbound shipping charges are included in net sales. The Company provides an allowance for sales returns based on historical experience.

Under an agreement with third parties, the Company acts as an agent for the sale of certain products ordered on its Web site. For such arrangements, the Company records the net amount of revenue earned as commissions on transactions rather than the gross amount of product sales and related costs.

In December 1999, the Securities and Exchange Commission issued Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 101 ("SAB 101"), "Revenue Recognition in Financial Statements". SAB 101, as amended, summarizes certain of the SEC's views in applying generally accepted accounting principles to revenue recognition in financial statements and provides guidance on revenue recognition issues in the absence of authoritative literature addressing a specific arrangement or a specific industry. The Company adopted SAB 101 in the year ended December 31, 1999. Adoption of this guidance did not have a material effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

Cost of Sales

Cost of sales consists of the purchase price of products sold, inbound and outbound shipping charges, packaging supplies and costs associated with service revenues and marketplace business. Outbound shipping charges and the cost of tangible supplies used to package products for shipment to customers totaled $633 and $26 in 2000 and 1999, respectively.

Advertising Costs

The Company expenses all costs of advertising as incurred. Advertising costs totaled $21,517 and $26,364 for the years ended December 31, 2000 and 1999, respectively.

TheAmericanWest.com, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements

Website Development Costs

The website will comprise multiple features and offerings that are currently under development, and it is anticipated that the offerings will require future development and refinement. In connection with the development of its website, the Company will incur external costs for hardware, software, and consulting services, and internal costs for payroll and related expenses of its technology employees directly involved in the development.

In March 2000, the Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) of the FASB reached a consensus on EITF Issue 00-2, "Accounting for Web Site Development Costs." This consensus provides guidance on what types of costs incurred to develop Web sites should be capitalized or expensed. The Company adopted this consensus effective for the year ended December 31, 1999. During 1999, the Company capitalized $14,500 of Web site development costs.

Fair value of financial instruments

Fair value estimates discussed herein are based upon certain market assumptions and pertinent information available to management as of December 31, 2000 and 1999. The respective carrying value of certain on-balance-sheet financial instruments approximated their fair values. These financial instruments include cash and accounts payable. Fair values were assumed to approximate carrying values for cash and payables because they are short term in nature and their carrying amounts approximate fair values or they are payable on demand.

Impairment of long lived assets

Long-lived assets are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the assets might not be recoverable. The Company does not perform a periodic assessment of assets for impairment in the absence of such information or indicators. Conditions that would necessitate an impairment assessment include a significant decline in the observable market value of an asset, a significant change in the extent or manner in which an asset is used, or a significant adverse change that would indicate that the carrying amount of an asset or group of assets is not recoverable. For long-lived assets to be held and used, the Company measures fair value based on quoted market prices or based on discounted estimates of future cash flows. Long-lived assets to be disposed of are carried at fair value less costs to sell. No such impairments have been identified by management at December 31, 2000.

Earnings per share

The Company follows Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 128, "Earnings Per Share" ("SFAS No. 128"). Basic earning per common share ("EPS") calculations are determined by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the year. Diluted earning per common share calculations are determined by dividing net income by the weighted average number of common shares and dilutive common share equivalents outstanding. During periods when common stock equivalents, if any, are anti-dilutive they are not considered in the computation.

Segment reporting

The Company follows Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 130, "Disclosures About Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information". The Company operates as a single segment and will evaluate additional segment disclosure requirements as it expands its operations.

Income taxes

The Company follows Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes" ("SFAS No. 109") for recording the provision for income taxes. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are computed based upon the difference between the financial statement and income tax basis of assets and liabilities using the enacted marginal tax rate applicable when the related asset or liability is expected to be realized or settled. Deferred income tax expenses or benefits are based on the changes in the asset or liability each period. If available evidence suggests that it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized, a valuation allowance is required to reduce the deferred tax assets to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized. Future changes in such valuation allowance are included in the provision for deferred income taxes in the period of change.

TheAmericanWest.com, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements

Deferred income taxes may arise from temporary differences resulting from income and expense items reported for financial accounting and tax purposes in different periods. Deferred taxes are classified as current or non-current, depending on the classification of assets and liabilities to which they relate. Deferred taxes arising from temporary differences that are not related to an asset or liability are classified as current or non-current depending on the periods in which the temporary differences are expected to reverse.

Recent pronouncements

The FASB recently issued Statement No. 137, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities-Deferral of Effective Date of FASB Statement No. 133". The Statement defers for one year the effective date of FASB Statement No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities". The rule now will apply to all fiscal quarters of all fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2000. In June 1998, the FASB issued SFAS No. 133, "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities." The Statement will require the company to recognize all derivatives on the balance sheet at fair value. Derivatives that are not hedges must be adjusted to fair value through income, if the derivative is a hedge, depending on the nature of the hedge, changes in the fair value of derivatives will either be offset against the change in fair value of the hedged assets, liabilities, or firm commitments through earnings or recognized in other comprehensive income until the hedged item is recognized in earnings. The ineffective portion of a derivative's change in fair value will be immediately recognized in earnings. The company does not expect SFAS No. 133 to have a material impact on earnings and financial position.

In May 2000, the Emerging Issues Task Force reached a final consensus on Issue 00-14 ("EITF 00-14"), "Accounting for Certain Sales Incentives". EITF 00-14 addresses accounting and reporting standards for sales incentives such as coupons or rebates that are provided by vendors or manufacturers and are exercisable by customers at the point of sale. In April 2001, the EITF delayed implementation of EITF 00-14, Accounting for Certain Sales Incentives, to coincide with the implementation date for EITF 00-25. The Company will adopt EITF 00-14 in the year ending December 31, 2002. The adoption of the recognition standards for liabilities is not expected to have a material effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations. The adoption in 2002 of the income statement display requirements of EITF 00-14 will have an immaterial effect on reported sales for the year ended December 31, 2001 and a corresponding immaterial decrease in selling, general and administrative expenses, with no effect on net income, as a result of reclassifications of prior year's consolidated financial statements for comparative purposes.

In April 2001, the Emerging Issues Task Force ("EITF") of the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued EITF 00-25, Accounting for Consideration from a Vendor to a Retailer in Connection with the Purchase or Promotion of the Vendor's Products. Under EITF 00-25, the cost of promotion activities offered to customers will be classified as a reduction in sales revenue. The Company is currently reviewing the rule and plans to adopt EITF 00-25, as required, in the first quarter of 2002. Adoption is not expected to change reported earnings.

Note 2 – Fixed Assets

The Company's fixed assets at December 31, 2000 consist of the following:

Office equipment	$10,074
Less: Accumulated depreciation	(2,203)
	$ 7,871

Depreciation expense totaled $1,960 and $270 in 2000 and 1999, respectively.

Note 3 – Web Development Costs

The Company incurred and capitalized $14,500 in web development costs during the year ended December 31, 1999. Amortization expense totaled $2,900 and $1,933 in 2000 and 1999, respectively.

Notes to Financial Statements

Note 4 – Going concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern which contemplates the recoverability of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. Since its inception, the Company has been engaged substantially in financing activities and developing its product line, incurring substantial costs and expenses. As a result, the Company incurred a net losses of $136,766 and $140,243 in 2000 and 1999, respectively. In addition, the Company's development activities since inception have been financially sustained by debt and capital contributions from its officers, directors and shareholders.

The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern is dependent upon its ability to raise additional capital from the sale of common stock and, ultimately, the achievement of significant operating revenues. The accompanying financial statements do not include any adjustments that might be required should the Company be unable to recover the value of its assets or satisfy its liabilities.

Note 5 – Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes" ("SFAS No. 109"), which requires use of the liability method. SFAS No. 109 provides that deferred tax assets and liabilities are recorded based on the differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes, referred to as temporary differences. Deferred tax assets and liabilities at the end of each period are determined using the currently enacted tax rates applied to taxable income in the periods in which the deferred tax assets and liabilities are expected to be settled or realized. There are no deferred tax assets or liabilities due to net operating losses for the years ended December 31, 2000 and 1999.

Note 6 – Stockholders' Equity

The Company is authorized to issue 25,000,000 shares of $0.001 par value common stock.

On May 5, 1999, the Company issued 9,500,000 shares of its $0.001 par value common stock to its founder for services valued at $9,500.

During May 1999, the Company completed an offering that was registered with the State of Nevada pursuant to NRS 90.490 and was exempt from federal registration pursuant to Regulation D, Rule 504 of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The Company sold 484,501 shares of its $0.001 par value common stock at a prices ranging from $0.03 to $1.00 per share for total cash of $50,700.

Note 7 – Related party transactions

John Schaffer, the Company's president, director and majority shareholder, has loaned the Company significant working capital. The balances of $230,207 and $103,222 as of December 31, 2000 and 1999, respectively, are supported by promissory notes from the Company which bear interest at 10% per annum. $20,075 and $9,384 of interest expense have been recorded for the years ended December 31, 2000 and 1999, respectively.

The officers and directors of the Company are involved in other business activities and may, in the future, become involved in other business opportunities. If a specific business opportunity becomes available, such persons may face a conflict in selecting between the Company and their other business interests. The Company has not formulated a policy for the resolution of such conflicts.

Note 8 – Commitments

The Company pays its partners commissions upon completion of certain sales under "participation" contracts. The Company paid total commissions of $38 and $-0- in 2000 and 1999, respectively. No commissions were payable as of December 31, 2000 and 1999.

Notes

Note 1 – Basis of Presentation

The consolidated interim financial statements included herein, presented in accordance with United States generally accepted accounting principles and stated in US dollars, have been prepared by the Company, without audit, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles have been condensed or omitted pursuant to such rules and regulations, although the Company believes that the disclosures are adequate to make the information presented not misleading.

These statements reflect all adjustments, consisting of normal recurring adjustments, which, in the opinion of management, are necessary for fair presentation of the information contained therein. It is suggested that these consolidated interim financial statements be read in conjunction with the financial statements of the Company for the year ended December 31, 2000 and notes thereto included in the Company's Form 10-SB registration report. The Company follows the same accounting policies in the preparation of interim reports.

Results of operations for the interim periods are not indicative of annual results.

Note 2 - Going concern

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applicable to a going concern which contemplates the realization of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities and commitments in the normal course of business. As at September 30, 2001, the Company has accumulated operating losses of approximately $330,000 since inception. The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is contingent upon the successful completion of additional financing arrangements and its ability to achieve and maintain profitable operations. Management plans to raise equity capital to finance the operating and capital requirements of the Company. Amounts raised will be used to further development of the Company's products, to provide financing for marketing and promotion, to secure additional property and equipment, and for other working capital purposes. While the Company is expending its best efforts to achieve the above plans, there is no assurance that any such activity will generate funds that will be available for operations.

These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. These financial statements do not include any adjustments that might arise from this uncertainty.

Note 3 - Related party transactions

John Schaffer, the Company's president, director and majority shareholder, has loaned the Company significant working capital. The balances of $281,373 and $230,207 as of September 30, 2001 and December 31, 2000, respectively, are supported by promissory notes from the Company which bear interest at 10% per annum. $20,075 of interest expense has been recorded for the year ending December 31, 2000.

The Company does not lease or rent any property. Office services are provided without charge by a director. Such costs are immaterial to the financial statements and, accordingly, have not been reflected therein. The officers and directors of the Company are involved in other business activities and may, in the future, become involved in other business opportunities. If a specific business opportunity becomes available, such persons may face a conflict in selecting between the Company and their other business interests. The Company has not formulated a policy for the resolution of such conflicts.
